HubSpot product updates: fiery hot 🔥

HubSpot's new in-app association label history 🆕

Earlier, as users updated their association levels over time, it was difficult for admins to keep track of label history. To look at a previous state, admins couldn't do it in-app with self-service.

With this update, admins can see which user made a change, what the label was when it was created, when a label limit was updated, if a label has been changed, and the internal values of an association which is important for APIs and integration.

Professional Customer Platform, Enterprise Customer Platform, CMS Pro, CMS Enterprise, Marketing Pro, Marketing Enterprise, Ops Pro, Ops Enterprise, Sales Pro, Sales Enterprise, Service Pro and Service Enterprise can enjoy this feature.

Deactivating a user now removes their connected personal email IDs 📧

With this new update, when you deactivate a user, all their personal email IDs connected to the account will be disconnected.

User deactivation allows admins to retain historical data while rescinding employee access to HubSpot. Earlier, the employee could still use connected accounts to log new emails to the CRM and send out their scheduled emails, including sequences.

Team emails the user set up as conversations inbox channels will continue to stay connected.

This update will be available to all hubs and tiers.

Our clients can't stop loving us! 😍

(We love them too. ❤️)

"No project is beneath them if it helps the client."

In my experience when someone reaches a high level of expertise, it often either comes with the baggage of a degree of arrogance, or a degree of disengagement. You will find neither with FCMO - they know what they are talking about. They're deeply committed to delivering excellence to their customers.
